

A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times: "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe it. It is a powerful tonic, and it is the best remedy known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemist will substantiate the assertion that there are no preparations of iron that of any other substance used in medicine. This short course, however, is not intended to be a substitute for the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, no perfect, satisfactory iron combination had ever been found.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. The teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures indigestion, biliousness, weakness, dyspepsia, malaria, chills and fevers, tired feeling, general debility, pain in the side, back or limbs, headache and neuralgia—for all these ailments iron is prescribed daily.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS however, does not cure in a minute. Like all other medicines, it acts slowly. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The muscles then become firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In women the effect is usually more rapid and marked. The eyes begin to clear, the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant milk is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and druggists recommend it. The Genuine has Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. TAKE NO OTHER.

THE ANARCHISTS WAR CRY

INCENDIARY SPEECHES DELIVERED AT COOPERS UNION.

The Building Filled With Sympathizers With the Hanged Anarchists—Resolutions Adopted—Anarchy Breaks Out Again in Chicago—Watchword "Fight."

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Cooper union was packed last night with people who sympathized with the hanged Anarchists, and came to help the widows and orphans made by the execution of the law. Everybody seemed to be an Anarchist, and red was the only color. A red flag hung from the stage, women wore red bonnets and ribbons and men red handkerchiefs and neckties. Pictures of the hanged men were displayed draped in black. A large squad of police were present, but they did not interrupt the meeting.

Editor Shevitch was the orator of the occasion and delivered a red hot speech. He said they were celebrating a memorial to the people, and that Spies and the others were considered cranks and foreigners and were murdered in a manner that would be impossible even in Russia. The real foreigners, he said, were the Vanderbilts, Sagos and Goulds, and the battle was between the people and their money. Powderly and Henry George had placed themselves in line with the hangmen.

After further incendiary remarks Shevitch closed with the following: "Let us stand together. Let the blood of the Anarchists cry out throughout the world. It is our flag. We will raise it. We will carry it through your streets. The time is not far distant when a National movement will be raised to the men murdered in Chicago."

Resolutions were adopted in which those present pledged themselves to support the widows and orphans of the hanged reds.

At It Again in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Paul Wolf, an educated German, aired his views favoring Anarchy and foretelling the violent deaths of Judge Gary, State's Attorney Grinnell and the jurors in the Anarchists' case. The police heard of it and he was hustled to prison in a short time.

The Anarchists of this city have prepared a circular headed "Fight." It denounces the trial and execution of the Anarchists and says nothing but force will win. In urging preparations for the revolution it says: "Whoever joins us must take all consequences, and be ready to sacrifice everything for the cause, even if it should be his life."

In this connection the circular says: "It must be war to the end. 'War to the palaces, aces, and peace to the huts,' Lazzari exclaimed twenty years ago. Whoever has heard the people's walls in the present distress and desperation, whose heart is not withered in his bosom, ought to know that we need men who take part with enthusiasm and passion in the fight of the working class against the social evil. Whoever joins us must take all consequences upon himself, and must be ready to sacrifice everything for the cause, even should it be his life. Life is not the highest of treasures."

"Finally I want to recall to the memory of our comrades the words of Schiller: 'When the enslaved nowhere finds his right, when the burden cannot be carried any longer, then he trustfully reaches up to the stars and takes down the rights due him and uses such means as are necessary. When nothing else avails the sword will help!'"

European Anarchist in New York. NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—There arrived in this city some days ago a European Anarchist who has considerable reputation among his "crowd." The object of his visit to this country is to watch the revolutionary movement—when it moves—and report its progress—when it progresses—to his colleagues in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe. An excellent linguist and a man of high attainments, he corresponds with Socialist papers in England, France, Germany, Italy and Spain. This work occupies most of his time. His leisure hours he usually spends in the company of New York Anarchists. He was in such company when a Herald reporter was introduced to him yesterday.

At first he would not speak at all. "My mission is a secret one," he explained, "and I don't care to give any 'points' to the capitalist press." Finally he was induced to talk, and when once started it was hard to stop him. What he said would fill two pages. He said little that was new, but told of the present condition of Anarchism throughout Europe. He said that the revolution in England could not be staved off more than two years, and that his brethren did not believe in parliamentary agitation. He said that France was saturated with Socialism, but that there were no large Socialist organizations. He said that the Socialists and Anarchists in the German states were numbered by the thousands, and that the great object of Socialists and Anarchists alike was universal co-operation.

Will Not Prosecute.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—"Forthwith" criminal court capias have been issued for the arrest of twenty-two Anarchists, indicted by the June, 1886, grand jury. They were issued the night previous to the execution to be served if attempts were made to incite disorder. They are against Christian Spies, Oscar W. Neely, Rudolph Schnaubelt, William Seliger and eighteen others, all well known Anarchists. These indictments were reinstated at the suggestion of the chief of police the afternoon previous to the hanging. Since no disturbance has followed, the indictments will probably be stricken from the docket next term.

He Was an Anarchist.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Henry K. Miller and Louis F. Huth had a discussion with a stranger in a saloon on First avenue early this morning about Anarchism. A quarrel ensued and the stranger who declared that he was an Anarchist, drew a revolver and shot Miller in the neck and Huth in the left hand. The stranger was arrested and Miller and Huth were taken to the Presbyterian hospital.

Sensation From the Pulpit.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 30.—A sensation has been caused by the fact that several ministers, in their sermons Sunday, denounced the Columbia City club as a gambling hall. Among the members of the club are Governor Richardson, Senators Hampton and Butler and many other eminent public men.

E. L. HARPER ON TRIAL.

The Wrecker of the Fidelity Bank Pleads "Not Guilty" in Court.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 30.—E. L. Harper, the arch-wrecker of the Fidelity National bank, was arraigned in the United States circuit court this morning before Judge Sage and pleaded not guilty when called to the bar. United States District Attorney Burdett read the law under which the fifty-five indictments were found against Harper, and then put the query to which the vice president of the late Fidelity replied as above, and took his seat. The great court room was packed with spectators, and within the railing were many of the leading attorneys of the city.

Briggs Swift, the president of "the late," came within the railing and sat down at a deputy's table. Mr. W. H. Chatfield sat down by him, looking very distingue, but no doubt wishing he were far away. Judge Jackson appeared about 11 o'clock and took a seat with Judge Sage. The most satisfactory progress was made in the selection of the jury, only one peremptory challenge being made by the government. They have two more. The defense have, as yet, made no peremptory challenges. Each side is entitled to three.

At 13 o'clock the court took a recess. Deputy Marshal Rolosen took Harper back to jail, Mrs. Harper and Miss Matthews going with him.

Deputy Kiersted and Costello were put in charge of the jury.

Up to the time of adjournment the following were retained in the jury box subject to further challenging, fifteen having been dismissed for reasons that disqualified them as jurors: Keifer Westlake, Miami county; Clark Taylor, Lawrence county; Clarkson Butterworth, Clinton county; Robert H. Higgins, Brown county; J. D. Hodson, Clinton county; Silas Williamson, Butler county; Edward Roberts, Warren county; William Yingling, Lawrence county; Z. D. Flasher, Clermont county; Raymond Geo. Clermont county.

Much merriment was caused when Clerk Georgi called the name of Peter J. Brewer, of Greene county. A spectator without the bar cried with a lusty voice: "Peter J. Brewer is dead." It was some time before order could be restored sufficiently to proceed.

Melville Curtis, of Clinton county, failed to respond when called, and was fined $25 by Judge Sage.

Harper was cheerful, taking a great interest in the selection of the jury, and making frequent suggestions to his counsel.

Like the grand jurors who indicted Harper, the fifty talesmen from which the twelve jurors will be selected are principally farmers.

GENUINE HYDROPHOBIA.

William Sasauld Now Dying of the Horrible Disease in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—William Sasauld, an employee of Leary's furrier establishment, No. 35 John street, lies dying from hydrophobia at the Brooklyn city hospital. He was bitten on the left forearm last September by a big Newfoundland dog kept to guard Leary's place. He went at once to the hospital and had the wound cauterized. Localized gangrene set in and the flesh sloughed off until the tendons were bare. The wound finally healed and the house surgeon examined it last week and was well pleased with its progress.

Sasauld slept in a loft over Leary's place, and at midnight the night watchman heard him screaming. He was found pacing the floor and trembling like a leaf. Two policemen conducted him to the hospital where the house surgeon gave him a glass of water. He tried desperately to swallow it, but it threw him into a spasm. Several attempts to feed him on milk and brandy failed. He was exhausted from lack of nourishment. Finally the surgeon, with the aid of a glass tube, succeeded in getting some milk and brandy down his throat. He is a rather small and not powerful man, and had shown no symptoms of extreme violence, but as a precautionary measure, he was put in a straight-jacket, and still wears it. Not long after this was put on him he manifested unmistakable symptoms of rabies. He was seized with that horrible dry cough which so nearly simulates the bark of a dog. These spasms occurred at frequent intervals during the night. Chloral and opium are sometimes given in cases of hydrophobia, but in this case curare was used. It is the arrow poison of South America. It is difficult to tell the component parts, but there is strychnine in it and its toxic effect is to paralyze the spinal cord. In mild doses it brings about partial paralysis.

Hydrophobia results from an irritation of the spinal cord, and about the only cure ever effected has been from the use of curare. There have been so few that Sasauld's chances are slim. His temperature was 102 yesterday morning, but his pulse had bounded up to 130, a bad symptom. The house surgeon is convinced that the case is not one of false hysteria hydrophobia, resulting from nervous apprehension.

A Massachusetts House Burned.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Nov. 30.—The mansion house at Andover was burned this morning. The house was built over one hundred years ago, and has been used as a hotel ever since. The property was owned by the trustees of the Philip academy. The loss is placed at $20,000; partially insured. The fire was the work of incendiaries.

Fatal Horse Disease.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Nov. 30.—Glanders has attacked the horses in the vicinity of Bloom, thirty miles northeast of here, and in several instances the disease is reported have proved fatal. State Veterinary Surgeon Atkinson is to be called to investigate the matter, as the farmers think that the contagion will spread.

Hotel to Be Cut in Pieces and Moved.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The ocean is making such inroads on Brighton Beach, Coney Island, that a great engineering feat has been determined on to save the big hotel. It is to be cut in three pieces and moved back until its frontage will be almost opposite the Brighton Beach race track entrance.

VACANT CHAIRMANSHIPS.

MORE THAN HALF THE HEADS OF COMMITTEES TO BE LEW.

The Speaker Will Have a Task More Unenviable Than Usual—Clerk Clark Has a Fight On Hand—Cohoes' Postmaster. Various Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Democratic caucus will be held on Saturday night. There is not much indication that the caucus is only five days off from the number of congressmen in town. Those here are more disturbed over their places on the committees than over the contest for the minor offices. Out of the fifty-eight committees of the last house the chairmen of only twenty have been returned. Six committees will be abolished by the new house because their usefulness has expired. Speaker Carlisle, therefore, will have to provide thirty-two new chairmen, taking it for granted that the twenty chairmen who have been re-elected desire to hold over.

For this ways and means judiciary committees there are about one hundred applications, including many from new members who never have been inside of the capitol. The speaker will be compelled to revise his entire list. There are so many vacancies to be filled by fresh blood that his task in making up the committees for the Fiftyeth congress will be even more arduous than forming those of the last. He can not take the ranking member of a committee and promote him to the chairmanship for if he did Alabama would hold the chairmanship of military affairs, naval affairs, pensions, expenditures of the war department, expenditures of the postoffice department, for by a single shake of the political dice it happens that representatives from that state are next in rotation on the committees named. Judge Culberson, of Texas, is believed to stand the best chance for the chairmanship of the judiciary committee, with Mr. Seney, of Ohio, second.

Of the most prominent committees whose chairmen will sit in the next house, these may be cited: On elections—Turner, of Georgia, who does not aspire to reappointment; appropriations—Randall, of Pennsylvania, likely to be reappointed; coinage, weights and measures—Bland, of Missouri; agricultural—Hatch, of Missouri; foreign affairs—Perry Belmont, of New York; railways and canals—Davidson, of Florida; manufacture—Wise of Virginia; mines and mining—Clarke, of Missouri; public buildings and grounds—Dibble, of South Carolina; labor—O'Neill, of Missouri; invalid pensions—Matson, of Indiana, who wants to be changed; revision of laws—Oates, of Alabama; expenditures of interior department—Weaver, of Iowa; expenditures on public buildings—O'Neill, of Missouri. The most important committees whose heads are missing are: Ways and means, for which Mills, of Texas, seems to have the inside track; the judiciary, commerce, whose old chairman, Judge Reagan, has gone to the other side of the capitol, rivers and harbors, military affairs, naval affairs, postoffice and post roads, public lands, Indian affairs and Pacific railroads.

The New York State Democrats are to have a grand jubilation at Willard's hotel on Thursday night to help the boom of young Mr. Raines who has started in to bowl John B. Clark out of the clerkship of the house. The New York State Democratic club of Washington, will tender a reception to Secretary of State Frederick Cook, who comes from the same county as Mr. Raines. A big delegation of New Yorkers is expected to be on hand, including Congressman Bourke Cockran, A. J. Cummings, T. J. Merriman, Sunset Cox and John R. Fellows, Maurice J. Power, H. J. Grant, E. Cooper, ex-Congressman Greenleaf, of Rochester, and Chairman Edward Murphy, of the state committee. The president and Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild have also been invited to the join in the festivities.

President Cleveland yesterday appointed John H. Larkin postmaster at Cohoes, N. Y., in place of J. H. Masten, who has held the office twenty-four years. The president for two years has been subjected to the heaviest pressure to remove Mr. Masten, but owing to the fact that the latter was the late President Arthur's brother-in-law, restrained from interfering. One of Mr. Arthur's last official acts was to recommit Masten for a new term of four years. Mr. Larkin has held office of trust in Albany county for many years. He is an old friend and lieutenant of Mr. Manning, who warmly commended him for the appointment. Among the other prominent Democrats who recommended him are Congressman Charles Tracy, D. C. Herrick, Edward Murphy, the successful chairman of the Democratic state committee; J. V. S. Lansing, Alfred Leroy, Andrew J. Root, David J. Johnson, William E. Thorne, Urban Weedon, and many of the principal companies at Cohoes.

Are We Again Insulted?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A dispatch from New Orleans says: Capt. Brown, of the steamer Harlan, from Bluefield, which arrived here to-day, gives to the press the following letter, which is the only information so far received on the subject:

"SCHOONER MERIDA, Nov. 28, 1887.

"Capt. Brown, Steamship Harlan, Escondido River:

"DEAR SIR.—This morning an armed force wearing the uniform of Nicaragua boarded the steamer William B. Moore and the schooner Merida, both owned wholly by American citizens and having licenses from the Mosquito government to carry on the business they are engaged in, and took forcible possession, which they now hold. I have abandoned everything to them. When asked for their authority they showed me their rifles. Please have this published as soon as you arrive so the United States government can hear of the outrage, and oblige, yours truly,

N. P. ALLEN,

"Owner of schooner Merida."

Turpie to Be Objected To.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The prospects are bright for a lively skirmish in the senate when David Turpie, of Indiana, presents himself on next Monday to be sworn in. The Republicans refuse to disclose at this time the program they intend to follow and which is to be perfected at a caucus this week, but it is understood that objection will be made to Mr. Turpie being sworn in, and that reference will be asked for his case to the committee on privileges and elections, on the ground that his certificate does not bear all of the necessary signatures of officers of the legislature and that of the secretary of the state, and that it is not therefore a prima facie proof of his election. Senator Voorhees, who will represent Mr. Turpie's case on the floor at the time, does not anticipate a refusal of the senate to administer the oath. He says the oath may be administered and the contest go to the committee, the contestee waiving the usual rights of a senator for the time, and until the contest is finally passed upon by the committee and the senate.
